(Note 3)

(Notes 4, 5)

Leading vote-getter among third-party candidates, where known.

^The 1914 election was the first where Senators were chosen by popular vote instead of by state legislature

(1) To fill vacancy created by Murphy's death (July 1936)

(2) To fill vacancy created by Cummins' death (July 1926)

(3) Brookhart won statewide by ~800 votes, but was later unseated by the Senate following a challenge by Steck.

(4) To fill vacancy created by Charles Rawson's retirement

(5) Rawson was appointed to fill vacancy created by Kenyon's resignation (Feb. 1922)
